"Empowering Women, Cultivating Health: Celebrating Wellness, Voices, and Resilience"
National Women's Health Week - May 12-18, 2024

Every year in the month of May and beginning on Mother's Day, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Office on Women's Health leads National Women's Health Week (NHW). This year, it takes place May 12 – 18th. The celebration aims to highlight women's health issues and encourage women of all ages to make their physical, mental, and emotional well-being a priority!

This year's theme, "Empowering Women, Cultivating Health: Celebrating Wellness, Voices, and Resilience," is committed to empowering women to take charge of their health journeys. It celebrates the strength and determination of women who have taken control of their health. It fosters an environment where all women feel supported and empowered to speak up about their wellness needs and concerns. It encourages women to engage in healthy lifestyle practices, access preventive care, and share their own health experiences to inspire others!

Each day of the week spotlights a different women's health topic. Below are a few examples of some of the important messages:

Day 1, Sunday, May 12th – Empowering Women in Their Health Journey: Be your own advocate! Speak up for yourself when dealing with your health issues. Write down what's been bothering you, any questions you have, and what you want to get out of your visit. If something your health care provider says doesn't make sense, ask for clarification, or it can sometimes be helpful to see another health care provider for a second opinion.

Day 4, Wednesday, May 15th – Talk About It, Reducing Women's Health Stigma: It's time to get real about women's health! We all have a role in fighting the stigma and supporting women who may feel alone or embarrassed about what are normal experiences related to their own health. Talking about the real issues helps us all learn more and feel more comfortable. It changes how we think about them. From mental health conditions to breast cancer, each has its challenges, but understanding and support can make a big difference, help break down barriers, and build a more supportive community.

Day 5, Thursday, May 16th – Understanding Care Is There: Prevention is key! Regular and ongoing care such as medical checkups, screenings, and vaccinations, and a healthy diet, physical activity, quality sleep, finding the right primary care provider, and getting ready for health care visits, are all key steps to keeping yourself in the best health possible. Routine appointments with your doctor can help catch health concerns early or even prevent them before they start. It's a proven fact that taking an active role in your own health care is one of the best things you can do for your long-term health!

Day 7, Saturday, May 18th – Women and Heart Health: Heart disease is the leading cause of death for women. It is also important to note that heart disease affects women of color at higher rates, with Black women facing the highest risk of any group of women and Hispanic women often experiencing heart-related problems earlier in life. Prevention is possible! Up to 80% of heart attacks and strokes can be prevented. Lifestyle changes that include a well-balanced nutritious diet, daily physical activity, quitting smoking, managing stress, and regular checkups with your doctor can substantially help reduce your risk!

This May, support National Women's Health Week and help uplift its theme: "Empowering Women, Cultivating Health: Celebrating Wellness, Voices, and Resilience!" Together we can do our part to encourage and empower women on their health journey and pathway to a more sustainable, resilient, and enhanced quality of life!

"Empoderando a las mujeres, cultivando la salud: Celebrando el bienestar, las voces y la resiliencia" Semana Nacional de la Salud de la Mujer - 12-18 de mayo de 2024

Cada año, en el mes de mayo y empezando con el Día de la Madre, la Oficina de Salud de la Mujer del Departamento de Salud y Servicios Humanos de EE.UU. organiza la Semana Nacional de la Salud de la Mujer (NWHW), por sus siglas en inglés). Este año se celebra del 12 al 18 de mayo. El objetivo de esta celebración es poner de relieve los problemas de salud de la mujer y animar a las mujeres de todas las edades a dar prioridad a su bienestar físico, mental y emocional!

El tema de este año, "Empoderando a las mujeres, cultivando la salud: Celebrando el bienestar, las voces y la resiliencia", se compromete a empoderar a las mujeres para que tomen control de su salud. Celebra la fuerza y la determinación de las mujeres que han tomado control de su salud. Fomenta un entorno en el que todas las mujeres se sienten apoyadas y capacitadas para hablar de sus necesidades y preocupaciones en materia de bienestar. Anima a las mujeres a adoptar hábitos de vida saludables, a acceder a la atención preventiva y a compartir sus propias experiencias en materia de salud para inspirar a otras.

Cada día de la semana se centra en un tema distinto de la salud de la mujer. A continuación, figuran algunos ejemplos de mensajes importantes:

Día 1, domingo 12 de mayo - Capacitar a las mujeres en su viaje hacia la salud: ¡Sé tu propia defensora! Habla por sí misma cuando tengas problemas de salud. Escribe lo que te preocupa, las preguntas que tienes y lo que quieras conseguir de tu visita. Si algo de lo que te dice tu proveedor de atención de salud no tiene sentido, pídele que te lo aclare o, a veces, puede ser útil consultar a otro proveedor de atención de salud para obtener una segunda opinión.

Día 4, miércoles 15 de mayo - Hablemos, reduzcamos el estigma de la salud de la mujer: ¡Es hora de hablar claramente sobre la salud de la mujer! Todos tenemos un papel en la lucha contra el estigma y el apoyo a las mujeres que pueden sentirse solas o avergonzadas por lo que son experiencias normales relacionadas con su propia salud. Hablar de los problemas reales nos ayuda a todos a aprender más y a sentirnos más cómodos. Cambia nuestra forma de pensar sobre ellos. Desde los problemas de salud mental hasta el cáncer de mama, cada uno tiene sus retos, pero la comprensión y el apoyo pueden marcar una gran diferencia, ayudar a derribar barreras y construir una comunidad más solidaria.

Día 5, jueves 16 de mayo - Entender que el cuidado de salud existe: La prevención es la clave. El cuidado regular y continuo, como las revisiones médicas, las pruebas de detección y las vacunas, así como una dieta sana, la actividad física, el sueño de calidad, la búsqueda del proveedor de atención primaria adecuado y la preparación para las visitas médicas, son pasos clave para mantenerse en el mejor estado de salud posible. Las visitas rutinarias al médico pueden ayudar a detectar precozmente los problemas de salud o incluso a prevenirlos antes de que aparezcan. Está demostrado que desempeñar un papel activo en el cuidado de su propia salud es una de las cosas mejores que puede hacer por su salud a largo plazo.

Día 7, sábado 18 de mayo - La mujer y la salud del corazón: Las enfermedades del corazón son la causa principal de muerte entre las mujeres. También es importante señalar que las cardiopatías afectan en mayor medida a las mujeres de color, siendo las mujeres negras las que corren un mayor riesgo y las hispanas las que suelen sufrir problemas relacionados con el corazón a una edad más temprana. ¡La prevención es posible! Hasta el 80% de los ataques cardíacos y los accidentes cerebrovasculares pueden prevenirse. Los cambios en el estilo de vida, que incluyen una dieta equilibrada y nutritiva, actividad física diaria, dejar de fumar, controlar el estrés y revisiones periódicas con el médico, pueden ayudar a reducir considerablemente el riesgo.

Este mes de mayo, apoye la Semana Nacional de la Salud de la Mujer y contribuya a realzar su lema: "Empoderando a las mujeres, cultivando la salud: Celebrando el bienestar, las voces y la resiliencia". Juntos podemos poner de nuestra parte para animar y empoderar a las mujeres en su camino hacia una calidad de vida más sostenible, resistente y mejorada.

HARVEST OF THE MONTH

Avocado-Chimichurri Steak With Grilled Asparagus

<https://recipes.heart.org/en/recipes/avocado-chimichurri-steak-with-grilled-asparagus>

Makes: 6 servings; Serving Size: 3 oz. beef and 1/2 cup asparagus.

Ingredients:

- 2 tablespoons chili powder
- 1 tablespoon garlic powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 pounds top round steak, all visible fat discarded
- 3/4 cup finely chopped fresh cilantro
- 1/2 cup finely chopped fresh parsley
- Zest of 2 medium lemons
- Juice of 1 medium lemon and juice of 1 medium lemon, divided use
- 1 tablespoon canola or corn oil and 2 tablespoons canola or corn oil, divided use
- 1 medium fresh jalapeño, seeds and ribs discarded, finely chopped
- Cooking spray
- 1 small avocado, halved, pitted, and diced
- 3 bunches asparagus spears, trimmed

Directions:

Before you begin: Wash your hands.

1. In a small bowl, stir together the chili powder, garlic powder, and salt. Put the beef on a large platter. Using your fingertips, gently press the mixture so it adheres to both sides of the beef. Let stand for 1 hour.
2. Meanwhile, in a small glass bowl, stir together the cilantro, parsley, juice of 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon oil, and the jalapeño. Gently stir in the avocado. Stir in the remaining juice of 1 lemon. Set aside.
3. When the beef is almost ready, lightly spray the grill with cooking spray. Preheat the grill on medium high.
4. Grill the beef for 3 to 5 minutes on each side (depending on its thickness), or until an instant-read thermometer inserted in the center reaches 125°F (rare) to 135°F (medium rare). The beef may need to be turned over occasionally so the rub doesn't burn. Remove the beef from the grill. Let stand on a large cutting board under a tent of aluminum foil.
5. Drizzle the remaining 2 tablespoons oil over the asparagus. Place the asparagus perpendicular to the grill grates or in a grilling basket. Grill for 7 minutes, or until tender-crisp.
6. Transfer the asparagus to a separate large platter. Sprinkle the lemon zest over the asparagus.
7. Thinly slice the beef diagonally across the grain. Arrange on the asparagus.
8. Spoon the sauce over the beef.
